

WILLIAM H. BEERS

REDACTED

Administrative Experience

1991 - Present

Senior Vice President, The Scripps Research Institute
Secretary and Member, Board of Trustees

1990 - 1991

Senior Vice President for Research, Scripps Clinic and Research Foundation

1987 - 1991

Associate Director, Research Institute of Scripps Clinic

Responsible for day-to-day operations of the Institute which has a staff of approximately 1,300 employees, 500 of which hold advanced degrees. Coordinate and plan construction, renovation and installation of major equipment. Maintain coordination of activities with the parent organization, Scripps Clinic and Research Foundation. Supervise institutional support services, and have administrative responsibility for Animal Resources. Coordinate and negotiate various arrangements with industry and other institutions. Oversee budget and expenditures.

1983 - 1987

Director of Undergraduate Studies, Department of Biology, New York University

Was responsible for the academic, curricular and advisement components of the undergraduate program in biology.

1978 - 1980

Chairman, Department of Biology, New York University

Directed the Department of Biology which is composed of 21 full-time faculty, 45 non-faculty staff, and more than 1,000 students. Negotiated and administered a Departmental budget of $1.6 million in fiscal year 1980.

Responsible for the planning and implementation of a five-year development plan to substantially upgrade the Department of Biology that included: