

CURRICULUM VITAE

EGILDE SERAVALLI, PH.D.

Education

1957	Maturita Classica	Gymnasium and Classic Liceum, Florence, Italy
1963	Ph.D., Microbiology	University of Florence, Florence, Italy

Professional/Research Experience

1986-present	Research Scientist, Institute of Molecular Immunology, Hospital for Joint Diseases, New York, NY
1982-present	Chief of Anesthesia Research, Beth Israel Medical Center, NY, NY
1982-present	Research Assistant Professor, Department of Anesthesiology, Mount Sinai School of Medicine, New York, NY
1979-1982	Assistant Professor, Department of Anesthesiology, State University of New York (SUNY), Brooklyn, NY
1977-1979	Assistant Professor, Dept. of Pathology, SUNY, Brooklyn, NY
1974-1977	Visiting Investigator, Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, Section of Human Genetics, New York, NY
1970-1973	Associate Research Scientist, Dept. of Pathology, New York University School of Medicine, New York, NY
1968-1970	Assistant Professor, Istituto per lo Studio e la Cura dei Tumori, Milano, Italy
1965-1967	Postdoctoral Fellow, Dept. of Immunopathology (Dr. Rene Dubos, Chairman), Rockefeller University, New York, NY
1964-1965	Postdoctoral Fellow, Dept. of Microbiology, Strong Memorial Hospital, University of Rochester, Rochester, NY

PROFESSIONAL SOCIETIES: New York Academy of Sciences (1984), American Society of Anesthesiologists (1980), New York State Society of Anesthesiologists (1980), American Association of Immunologists (1978), American Association for the Advancement of Sciences (1975; all memberships continue through the present).